General Policy for Accessing a Document from all Divisions of the Ministry of Legal Affairs

How to request Information:

General Procedure

The Ministry's policy is to answer all requests, both oral and written, for information. However, in order to have the rights given to you by the FOIA (for example the right to challenge a decision if your request for information has been refused), you must make your request in writing. The applicant must therefore, complete the appropriate form (request for Access to Official Documents) available in any Public Authority in order to access information that is not readily available in the public domain.

Addressing Requests:

See Section 7(1) (a) (vii)

It will help the Ministry to answer your question sooner if you address it to the Designated Officer or Alternate of the respective Division of the Ministry of Legal Affairs.

See Section 7(1) (a) (VI) for a list of designated officers.

Details in the Request

Applicants should provide details that will allow for ready identification and location of the records that are being requested. If insufficient information is provided clarification will be sought from the applicant. If you are not sure how to write your request or what details to include, communicate with the Ministry's Designated Officer.

Requests not handled under the FOIA

A request under the FOIA will not be processed to the extent that it asks for information that is currently available in the public domain, either from this Ministry or another public authority, for example, brochures and pamphlets etc.

Responding to your Request

The Ministry of Legal Affairs is required to furnish copies of documents only when the Ministry possesses the available records and is able to retrieve the records. If the information requested is stored in the National Archives or another storage center, the ministry will attempt to retrieve the information where possible, in order to process your request.

Furnishing Documents:

- (i) The Ministry is required to furnish copies of information in its possession, custody or power. It is not compelled to create new documents. For example, it is not required to write a new programme so that a computer will print information in the format you prefer.
- (ii) The Ministry is not required to perform research for you
- (iii) The Ministry is required to furnish only one copy of a document
- (iv) If the Ministry cannot make a legible copy of a document to be released, it may not attempt to reconstruct it. Instead, it will furnish the best copy possible and note its quality in its reply.

Time Limits:

General

The FOIA sets a time limit of thirty (30) calendar days from the date the request was received for determination of your request for access to documents. If it fails to meet the deadlines, the FOIA gives you the right to proceed as if your request has been denied. The Ministry will try diligently to comply with the time limits, but if it appears that processing your request may take longer than the statutory limit, the request will be acknowledged and the Ministry will advise you of its status. Since there is a possibility that requests may be misaddressed or misrouted, you may wish to call or write to confirm that the Ministry has received the request and to ascertain its status.

248—Continued

Time Allowed:

The Ministry will determine whether to grant your request for access to information as soon as practicable but no later than thirty (30) calendar days from the date the request was received as required by Section 15 of the FOIA. If a decision is taken to grant access to the information requested, you will be permitted to inspect the documents or be provided with copies, if you so request.
